

CHARACTER DESCRIPTIONS

WOMAN, a capable engineer who challenges expectations while pursuing her place in the space program.

MAN, a high-strung NASA administrator whose assumptions are tested as history unfolds around him.

MARY, a loving mother whose quiet strength masks a deep fear for her son's uncertain future.

GLADYS, an enthusiastic and talkative neighbor who sees the moon landing as a joyful social event.

HANK, a kind and steady mail carrier who delivers more than letters during a tense moment.

MEADOW, an idealistic teenager driven by counterculture values and a desire to change the world.

PAUL/PAULA, a younger sibling who provides humor and contrast through curiosity and blunt honesty.

MOTHER/FATHER, a practical parent struggling to balance authority, tradition, and a changing generation.

CHRIS, a passionate young adult advocating for civil rights through peaceful protest and persistence.

JESSIE, a determined protester whose frustration with war fuels their urgency and voice.

SUZANNE, a confident activist fighting for women's equality with conviction and unapologetic resolve.

SARA, a thoughtful teen whose insight helps unify divided voices into shared purpose.

RANDY, an awkward but sincere teenager hoping courage will finally bring him closer to his crush.

LISA, a friendly and observant teen who navigates social moments with warmth and subtle confidence.

JEFF, a supportive best friend whose easygoing nature brings levity to tense situations.

CINDY, a cheerful and outgoing teen who complements Jeff while encouraging kindness and inclusion.

MOM, a loving but overbearing parent whose enthusiasm often overwhelms her well-meaning intentions.

DAD, a playful and teasing father who enjoys embarrassing his chaos and stealing attention.

CARL/CARLA, a stubborn skeptic convinced the moon landing is a hoax despite mounting evidence.

MAUREEN, a sharp-witted waitress whose patience and logic steadily dismantle conspiracy theories.

BRETT, a privileged young soldier learning hard truths about war, responsibility, and survival.

JIMMY, a seasoned and streetwise soldier who teaches resilience through blunt honesty and experience.